KONGE · ACORN · KÖNIG

Johan Rohde was the first artist with whom Georg Jensen collaborated. In 1906 Johan Rohde ordered some hollowware, which he had personally designed for his newly built home, from the silversmith Georg Jensen; a few years later a lifelong collaboration commenced.

In 1915 Johan Rohde designed the Acorn pattern, which, with its unique combination of subtle lines and striking ornamentation, swiftly became world-renowned. Acorn is perhaps the world's most wide-ranging silver cutlery, and was at one time produced in 226 pieces. Today, it comes in 80 pieces - including such items as place card holders and berry spoons.
